Municipal Corruption in New York

[From Every Saturday Jan 7]

The New York Times has been engaged for many months in an assault directed day after day against the corruptions of the New York Municipal Government In the annals of journalism we know of nothing more resolute bitter continuous uncompromising and fear less than this series of attacks The object evidently is to force the officials assailed to submit to the charge of being called thieves or to vindicate their characters by an appeal to the Courts Macaulay tells us of a class of men, the sycophants of Kings who are "complacent in their infamy They are so degraded as not only to have lost all sense of shame but to pride themselves on their superiority to it Saints without number have vainly sought to find repose in the practice of the virtues the men whom Macaulay denounces find "repose" in the bland consciousness of baseness The self content, the self satisfaction, the harmony of the will with the desires which self-denial fails to give to many men of exceptional virtue, is found to be the special blessedness the last consolation, and finest reward of the rascalities which the knave glories in committing His infamy is complacent infamy He enjoys a quiet delight in reflecting that every body who has any moral sense hates and despises him It was long supposed that this kind of character had no real existence, but was merely a creation of Macaulay s epigrammatic scorn If the New York Times is to be believed this kind of character governs the city of New York

The instinctive sense of every man of ordinary moral feeling is that the Times will be prosecuted for libel It seems to be utterly incomprehensible that any creatures deserving to be called men should be weighed down by such charges without attempting to vindicate their reputation by prosecuting the journalists who impugn it The Times, stimulated by a more than common ardor of public virtue, has invited this prosecution It deliberately desires to be compelled to prove by legal evidence, its scandalous assertions But not a single member of the government of the City of New York can be induced to sum on the proprietors of the Times even before its own corrupt tribunals What is the reason? The reason would seem to be that these gentlemen riot in the satisfaction of "complacent infamy " They have none of that ambition which prompts less corrupted criminals to desire the semblance of honesty Their faith—as strong as any faith which may have formerly led men to the stake and rack for their convictions—seems to be that knavery is the one great power in the world to which all other powers are subordinate.

It is sad to be compelled to say that some Irish leaders rank with these unprincipled politicians They are the most cynical of all the depraved race of American politicians in using their "eloquence " for the purpose of dooming their poor and ignorant countrymen to worse feed and worse lodgings than they would naturally get by the fair operation of the law of supply and demand An Irish "patriot" in the United States will sometimes "sell out" his constituency in such a shameless way to the politicians and capitalists of the country as to shock even the hardened sensibility of the most profligate Anglo-Saxon trickster New York is governed by the Irish , and it is the one city in the country where the Irish are the poorest fed clothed and lodged The Irish leaders, the men who control the Irish vote, live in palaces , the Irish men herd in tenement houses, amid all physical and moral filth and misery. The most wicked Republican politician would better care for them if he could only learn the way to reach their hearts and their votes The possession of such an immense political power is found to be compatible with the most wholesale swindling of the persons who seem to wield it

The New York Times finding that it could not sting the callous sensibilities of its opponents into some attempt to vindicate their lost manhood, has advanced a step further in its endeavors to make the city of New York a civilized municipality. It knows, by experience, that it cannot tempt any of the real governors and plunderers of New York out of their state of "complacent infamy, by inviting them to test the truth of its accusations before the courts It has therefore attempted a somewhat more audacious enterprise—an enterprise in which all respectable men and women must wish it success It has boldly assailed the property and fashion of New York as the meanest of all sycophants to its rascal power The increased taxation which knavery imposes on real estate will fall, it is supposed on the tenants of houses rather than on the owners of houses. Why, therefore should property-holders interfere to protect their tenantry? It is this cynical indifference to the welfare of the city as shown in men of wealth and social position, which the Times has recently spent all its power in exposing and denouncing It brings forward gentlemen of the highest character and standing as practically the accomplices of the knaves whose thefts they condone It insists that the barrier of social rank which now separates the two should be broken down It thinks that the coarse-minded scoundrels who dominate New York officially should become ornaments of its exclusive fashionable circles as well as the opprobium of its civic government It demands that the persons who compromise with thieves in the hope of saving their own purses from violation should be placed on a social equality with the scamps they practically shield from justice, When we consider how haughty how supercilious how contemptuous is the attitude of "the first society of New York toward honest men who may happen to lack a million or a pedigree, this attack of the Time —which is almost the only popular newspaper it condescends to read—must be ranked among the heroisms of journalism. We cordially wish it success in unmasking the cowardice and hypocrisy of the classes it assails Every man in the country who gets his living by any other method than by being a thief or by being the accomplice of thieves, must bid it God speed in its intrepid course

B fore General Ducrot started on his first great sortie from Paris he referred the question whether he had broken his parole to a court of honor over which General Trochu presided His purpose apparently was to absolve his reputation from any reproach in case he should fall or again be captured The facts which he submitted to the court were not materially different from those upon which he has been generally condemned He refused to sign the capitulation at Sedan and was therefore considered a prisoner He gave his word of honor to proceed to Pont a Mousson and report himself there as a prisoner He did so but was told that the first train for the conveyance of prisoners was full, and he must wait for the next Instead of complying with this requirement, he at once escaped regarding himself freed from any obligation as he was not responsible because the Germans did not secure his person The question was, whether his act of surrender was complete by his having reported himself It need not be said that General Ducrot would have protested vehemently if the Germans had imprisoned him and treated him as a felon while the second train was making ready The simple fact is that he took advantage of the consideration which they paid to him and his rank to escape In this way he actually broke faith with them while technically he may have kept his word General Trochu and all the other members of the court, except a brigadier and a lieutenant colonel who would not vote decided in his favor

Melons vs Beets for Sugar

The following very interesting and instructive article from W Wadsworth, we take from the Sacramento Union of December 31st

The sugars from cane maple, beets parsnips the sweet gourd and all the varieties of melons when manufactured perfectly pure are chemically identical In Hungary and Italy there are numerous large establishments for the manufacture of melon sugar I have seen them The cost of melon sugar as compared with beet sugar is in favor of the melon Every German or French authority on the culture of beets for sugar, admits the necessity of at least two and recommends three deep and heavy plowings of the land to properly fit it for the culture of beets With melons it is quite otherwise To secure the largest yield and best beets, the seed should be planted in rows two feet apart and from eight to ten inches apart in the row Melons are usually planted in hills six or eight feet apart but they are better planted in rows twelve feet apart, and eight inches apart in the row For beets all the land—for illustration say fifty feet in width—must be plowed at least twice For melons only four beds, twelve feet apart and each only four feet wide, or sixteen feet in width of plowed land against fifty for beets

The great expense of beet culture is in the hand hoeing and weeding of every row in most lands as many as three of these [illegible] ings are required in a season before the [illegible] are large and spreading enough to keep the weeds The difference be[illegible] ing of four rows of melons and rows of beets is very considerabl[e] exhaustion of the fertility of th[e] the same proportion With be[ets] land between the rows is kept fr[ee] with the horse hoe or cultivator expense Young melon plan[ts] tender and delicate for the first [illegible] beets It is evident, therefore that th[e] ture is largely in favor of melons at be[illegible] than one third the cost of beets per acre

In gathering the two crops the differe[nce] again in favor of melons, for they only [illegible] to be picked from the vine and th[rown into] carts, then, without washing or other [illegible] are ready for the mill [illegible] must [be] pulled thrown into he[aps] [illegible] from the sun then [illegible] in having its crow[n] [illegible] off and then befor[e] [illegible] cutter must be washed [illegible]

The gathering a[nd] handling [illegible] agreeable and clean [illegible] with that of beet[s] [illegible] ons in certain localit[ies] [illegible] consumption in the early part [illegible] whenever worth more [illegible] sugar, spirits or vinega[r] [illegible] beets Sugar making c[an] [illegible] month earlier from melo[ns] [illegible] and with winter water-me[lons] [illegible] continued as late as with b[eets] [illegible] their seed every year with [illegible] for cultivation Beets [illegible] with land and careful cult[ivation] [illegible] of seed Melon seed will [illegible] cent of their weight of [illegible] Beet seeds are of no valu[e] [illegible] needed for seed The c[illegible] seeds of the melon sug[ar] [illegible] one half the cost of c[illegible] crop The yield of melons [illegible] able soils is equal to that of be[ets] [illegible] of sugar is as seven per cen[t] [illegible] eight per cent. from beets [illegible] manufacture is decidedly in fa[vor] [illegible] they require less time, l[ess] [illegible] machinery, less power [illegible] no water is added, which [illegible] beet juice by the ordinary pr[ocess] [illegible] tion

The natural purity of th[e] [illegible] is so superior to beets [illegible] furnish an agre[eable] [illegible] a delicious [illegible] and [illegible] ble The defecat[ion] [illegible] for melon juice and sugar [illegible] ed with far less trouble [illegible] of the beet which is man[illegible] above the ground exposed [illegible] little or no value for sugar [illegible] the sun and [illegible] the melon [illegible] er generally [illegible] beets

Beet juice and pulp will turn bl[ack] [illegible] pomace [illegible] from the [illegible] will not blacken [illegible] ferment in the [illegible] for [illegible] from the melon [illegible] their power of extracting al[illegible] substances from the soil [illegible] value for [illegible] Melons [illegible] suitable for le[illegible] these salts [illegible] the soil

[illegible] presses are required to separate [illegible] the pulp as with beets, but all [illegible] and seeds go into the defecating kettles together Cloth filters, concentrators and a vacuum pan are as necessary as for beets The buildings are less costly because requiring less strength to hold in position than the centrifugals and other machinery of beet sugaries. The chemical processes of melon sugar-making do not differ materially from those for the making of beet sugar except in their simplicity

Spirits in large quantities can be extracted from the fermented juice of melons and the refuse of the sugarie and "pure cider vinegar" is made therefrom in ten hours that can not be distinguished from the genuine article The melon rinds, with dry grass or straw make an excellent food for milch cows

Now, while I have been drawing comparisons favorable to melon sugar as against sugar from beets, except in one instance—the actual per cent of sugar obtained—I do not in any way desire to detract from the merit of the beet as a sugar yielding product of our soils, well knowing and acknowledging its almost inestimable value

But it is this that I wish to inculcate, that whereas a beet sugar establishment is a costly concern a melon sugarie costs comparatively but little, whilst both can be made exceedingly profitable A small beet sugarie that will pay an annual dividend of 30 per cent upon the entire investment will cost $75 000 A melon sugarie that will pay 34 per cent on its cost, can be put in operation for $20 000

A beet sugarie to pay a dividend of 35 to 45 per cent per annum, will cost from $100 000 to $150,000

Beet Sugar—Its Prospects—A New Process.

[From the Pacific Rural Press]

Industry is a great success in California On the 17th day of November last, the Alvarado Sugarie made its first sugar No difficulty occurred The machinery worked well and every process was a success from the beginning Better sugar we never saw There are several methods of making beet sugar By the Alvarado method, the beets are washed and rasped and the juice is extracted by a centrifugal screen Defecation is effected by lime and purification by carbonic acid gas, and by animal charcoal They use a vacuum pan for the final boiling, and, again centrifugals for extracting the molasses from the crystalized sugar The machinery for this method is complex and costly The mill and all its appointments cost $125,000 Its capacity is 50 tons of beets a day producing four tons of sugar—which shows eight per cent of sugar in the beets The cost of production scarcely exceeds seven cents and the average market price may be quoted at 12 cents per pound, leaving a good profit They paid $3 50 per ton for beets delivered This may advance some hereafter Twenty five tons is about a fair yield per acre to good cultivation. Chinese labor is employed in the mill and it gives good satisfaction

The Co has 3½ tons of seed for 1871, and 600 acres of land will be put in beets. It may be mentioned that this sugarie is under the working direction of Messrs Otto & Kleinau experienced German manufacturers

Alvarado is some 25 miles from San Francisco on the opposite side of the Bay and the land thereabouts is a very rich loam with a moist subsoil

A year before the Alvarado mill was built the Sacramento City Company organized by Mr Wadsworth, put up an experimental mill and proved the fact that our beets were good for sugar Under this assurance a 70 ton mill was ordered in Germany, and an experienced superintendent engaged The company however, conceived the idea that it would be prudent to verify Wadsworth s experiments by a new trial under a French gentleman who held out inducements There the year was lost and with it the honor of priority The company now feels encouraged and it is seeking in Germany for machinery which will probably be of more recent improvement, and we may expect [illegible] this year s crop of beets Six thousand pounds of seed are on hand for planting in the spring

The new process of extracting the saccharine [illegible] planting [illegible] in Europe [illegible] called "Roberts Dif[illegible] It differs materially from [illegible] Alvarado [illegible] system claims to ex[illegible] behind the [illegible] slices one-[illegible] with five or [illegible] [illegible] water [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] Mr [illegible] works [illegible] from in

SINKING OF THE ENGLISH VESSELS IN THE SEINE.—The Chicago Tribune has the following on this subject

The seizure and sinking of six English merchant [illegible] Seine [illegible] offi[illegible] for by the [illegible] avowed, [illegible] who [illegible] ntaled Thus [illegible] with England is avoided and the [illegible] placated.

Military necessity required the navigation of the Seine to be obstructed to prevent the French gunboats from ascending above a certain point, or to catch other gunboats which may have ventured above a certain point The Prussians had no vessels in the river which they could use for the purpose of obstructing the navigation, but the English had and they happened to be moored just at the right place A wink to the subordinate officer would be sufficient to cause the vessels to be sunk, and then would promptly follow his approval, compensation apology and court martial But there will be no order given by the "Emperor of Germany" to raise the sunken vessels and remove them from their obstructive position The subordinate officer may be court-martialed and sent home to enjoy repose and a secret pension for his valuable services

Bismarck Moltke old Billy Rex the Crown Prince, and the rest of the Prussian commanders understand their business perfectly There is strategy in war

The Chicago Evening Post says that the original enumeration of New York City taken by the Federal officers, left the Democracy in such a situation as to receive the hearty detestation of honest men everywhere Against an exhibit so shameful "it continues, "something had to be done of course The most plausible plan was denunciation of the census It was accordingly denounced as imperfect and utterly unreliable The complaints on this score were so loud that President Grant authorized a new census to be taken The returns of this new enumeration are now coming in They vary but little from the original census and this variation is against the Democratic charge of imperfection, instead of in its favor From 12 districts there is but a difference of 50 in population and this 50 is on the wrong side for the Democracy The new enumeration shows 50 less than the original returns! And so, we have no doubt the whole enumeration will be It will show the substantial correctness of the first official reports The political argument to be drawn from this state of things is unanswerable The practical corruption of the Democracy, and that in a matter of the most vital importance to freedom the people, the country is manifested beyond successful dispute"

Instruction for the Ignorant

A few days ago we stated that we had shown by literal extracts from the writings of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, that they held that there is a warrant in the Constitution to enact a tariff law for the protection of American labor and manufactures, and even for the prohibition of foreign products To this the Herald, which has no accurate knowledge of anything, and is, of course, entirely at fault as to the history of its own party, responds

> You have shown no such thing, nor can you, therefore we guess you are ahead only in unsupported assertions

Now will the Herald tell just what Mr Jefferson meant in 1808 when he spoke encouragingly of the progress of American manufactures, and said that "the establishments formed and forming would under the auspices of cheaper materials and protecting duties and prohibitions become permanent? If he did not mean that there exists a constitutional power to protect home labor and manufactures, and to prohibit the introduction of foreign goods, what did he mean?

Will it explain what Mr. Madison intended when he declared that "if Congress have not the power to protect home industry it is annihilated for the nation, '—adding that such a policy is without example in any other nation, and would be "without reason" in our own? If he did not mean to affirm the constitutional power to enact a tariff to protect home industries and manufactures, what was his meaning?

Will it explain what Gen Jackson meant when he said that our raw materials "ought to have extended to them adequate and fair protection,' that too many of our people were employed in agriculture, and that we ought to pursue a policy that would "draw from agriculture this superabundant labor and employ it in mechanism and manufactures? Did he mean to recommend a policy that is without warrant in the Constitution?

Did the Democrats of Indiana in 1828 proclaim an unconstitutional doctrine when they declared in favor of a protective tariff, demanded that General Jackson should make known his position on the subject, and made acceptance of the doctrine by him a condition precedent to receiving their support? [illegible] he declare himself in favor of an unconstitutional doctrine when he responded by affirming emphatically his devotion to the doctrine of protection?

The Herald now maintains that it is unconstitutional to enforce a policy which all the great men of the early days of its party advocated and enforced. This being its position, what has it to say of the embargo and non-intercourse laws which were passed in 1807 and approved by President Jefferson? It now asserts that it is unconstitutional to place any restrictions on commerce for the purpose of protecting [illegible] interests Yet by the non-intercourse [illegible] our commerce with Great Britain [illegible] suspended and prohibited Jefferson [illegible] all the Herald say it was unconstitutional Viewed from the position that paper has taken, it was grossly so [illegible] now denying that there is any warrant in the constitution to impose duties on foreign goods with a view of protecting [illegible] labor and developing our own manufactures yet that same party when in power [illegible] been able to find a constitutional warrant [illegible] prohibition of foreign commerce [illegible] Mr Jefferson, in 1809, in writing about the embargo and non-intercourse [illegible] had been attended with good [illegible] it had "generated in this [illegible] an universal spirit of manufacturing [illegible] ourselves In his opinion the prohibition [illegible] British goods was a grand [illegible] measure for this country [illegible] and constitutional authority [illegible] totally prohibiting foreign commodities [illegible] argued that it was a benefit to [illegible] industry to do it His followers declare that there is no constitutional warrant for obstructing the importation of foreign goods even with moderate duties, in order to [illegible] American industry

We give the above as a few facts for the Herald to chew upon It is not a welcome task to be compelled to instruct it in the ways of its own party, but as it is so densely ignorant, and has seen fit to parade its ignorant assertions against our historical facts, we are compelled to give it a few necessary lessons in the lore of its own party

A Natural Result

A recent letter from Washington, (written by B F Dowell), contains the following paragraph

> Senator Williams' bills granting lands to aid in the construction of a road from Salt Lake to the Columbia river and from Humboldt river to [illegible] river, both still sleep in the Committee on Public Lands of the House The Chairman said to day that they could not tell what the people of Oregon wanted That it appeared that the question was made before the people, and that the State was carried against Williams, one of the strongest friends of railroads, and it was probable the Committee would take no action until further developments I had also a conversation with Mr Mcneil, of Pennsylvania, who is on the Committee on the Pacific railroad, and he expressed similar views.

So it appears that some of the chickens hatched in the recent election in this State have already come home to roost. Senator Williams was the champion of a railroad system which would have inured vastly to the benefit of Oregon The political contest in this State last June took the form of an assault by the Democratic party on the railroad measures, which Senator Williams had brought forward, and was advocating in Congress All other issues were dropped, and that one alone was dwelt upon The State was carried by the Democrats, the Legislature was carried against Williams, and Oregon placed herself in an attitude of hostility to the beneficent measures for her own development which Williams was perfecting This is the way the matter is viewed at Washington The Republican majority are now wholly indifferent to to our railroad interests, because we seem to be indifferent to them ourselves The whole series of measures that was under way and promising to lead to successful results is, in all probability, foiled, so far as Congressional action is concerned To this complexion have matters been brought by the stupid partisanship of the Democracy and their blindness to the interests of the State The railroad grants will all fail but they have got Kelly. They would have him, now let him help them Of course he will do it bravely as he will have no place on the leading Committees and his influence will be at zero

The litigant organ says that Congressman Smith in introducing his bill to prevent land grabbers from seizing the school lands of the State considers himself bound, as a citizen of Oregon, to do what he legitimately can to carry out the intent of the State Constitution Then this litigant organ when it favored the lock and dam swindle, was doing what it could to defeat the intent of the State Constitution But that was during the session of the Legislature when the profits of its "gross frauds in the State printing depended on implicit obedience to the dominant ring It couldn't sacrifice the profits by standing up for the State Constitution at that particular time

In the Congregational Church at Salem the pews are henceforth to be open free to all The pastor, Rev. P S Knight, has determined to depend wholly on voluntary contributions for his support. On Sundays the contribution plate will not be passed, except occasionally for some matter outside of church expenses, as for contributions to the poor The plan has already been tried by Rev Mr Bonnell of the Episcopal Church at Salem, and found successful

From the Salem Statesman On Sunday a little child of Mr Peller, a Frenchman, living in this place, was accidentally shot by a little brother eight years old, who got his father's revolver out of a drawer and discharged it in the direction of the little fellow, who was playing on the floor. The ball ranged through the shoulder, first grazing the ear, and then passed through the arm, making four bullet holes Strange to say, no bones were broken, and the little fellow is not dangerously hurt

It is said that Schultz don't take kindly to his "pardner," Wilson, in the peitentiary, whom he accuses of betraying him and getting him into that industrial institution Consequently he evinces a disposition occasionally to "go for" Wilson with an ax, which is not comfortable to Wilson, who wishes he wasn't there It is supposed that the Governor will have to walk out to the penitentiary to reconcile the brothers Schultz is still as independent in his ways as ever. When the Warden comes down on him for not obeying the regulations, he declares he is ready to quit any day.

A Chicago colony propose to locate in White county, Arkansas, and covenants to settle five hundred families within eighteen months, and to begin the erection of college buildings to cost $30,000. The Cairo and Fulton Railroad offers 5 000 acres of land as college endowment, and the State will probably give a land endowment.

One firm in New York has a contract for the delivery of 50,000 canary birds there the present season The birds are collected in Prussia, the low people of the Hertz Mountains raising many of them for the American market Agents go from house to house and collect them, paying about fifty cents apiece for each one. In the American cities canaries retail for about $36 per dozen.

A Washington dispatch of Dec. 31st, gives this It seems there was good ground for refusing to allow Surratt to lecture here last night, as it was the evident determination of members of both the Democratic and Republican parties to create a disturbance It appears that after he lectured here Surratt intended to make a Southern trip, but his late troubles have dissuaded him from it, and his friends have advised him that such a course would expose him to personal danger—a suggestion which Surratt has never yet failed to heed In connection with Surratt, it may be as well to state that the assertions in these dispatches that Surratt was promised by the Judge Advocate that if he gave himself up, his mother should be released, was made upon the authority of one of the counsel employed by the government in the case

THE NEXT DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE —The Cincinnati Commercial of the 20th December, contains the following

> Symptoms appear that the New York ring is not quite determined to push Hoffman for the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency The ring masters see that they can name the candidate provided they go outside New York In the New York Convention a New Yorker was nominated against his wishes at the suggestion of a Western man The Seymour letter of Mr Pendleton has not been forgotten Now the Hoffmanites are looking for a Western man. They not pick Pendleton, because he has not carried his State, and has been damaged by the bad handling his professional friends have given him Never was a man more miserably managed The Democracy have, however, carried Indiana and Mr Hendricks seems to be the coming man The question is, whether Pendleton's friends who look upon the Hendricks movement in the New York Convention as treachery, will be strong enough to forbid his nomination In that case Judge Thurman of Ohio will probably come to the front

A Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says the spirit of the French is a curious alternation between feebleness and ferocity They are, by turns feeble and ferocious If they are not prostrate with effeminacy they are towering with savagery "I have seen both soldiers and civilians, provincials and Parisians, men and women, behave with all the spooney infirmity of an idiot, and conduct themselves with all the unreasoning ferocity of a barbarian in the course of a conversation on the war They blubber and they whine over the coldness of other nations, and they also grind their teeth as they declare that they will have their terrible revenge on every one of these nations "

The Berliner Borsen Courier writes that a new sort of insanity is prevalent in the hospitals around Versailles It is caused by the positions the extreme outposts of the German army have to occupy around Paris Lying flat on their belly, concealed behind some log or stone, the men have to be perfectly still, keeping their heads motionless, and gaze steadfastly at the hostile lines This exceedingly wearisome position has in a good many instances produced insanity

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP

The Senate, as it will stand on the 4th of March next will have fifty eight Republicans and six teen Democrats, while the admission of Colorado which is deemed probable, will add two to the Republican total There are twenty-three Senators whose terms expire in 1873 twenty five in 1875 and twenty six in 1877 Of the first class inclusive of Georgia, twenty one are Republicans and two Democrats, of the second, nineteen are Republicans and six Democrats, of the third class, sixteen are Republicans and ten are Democrats

It was the Mayor of Washington City that prevented Surratt from delivering his lecture in that place The Mayor advised him not to attempt it, and he desisted This is the reason why Surratt did not attempt to brave public opinion in the city that was the scene of the crime growing out of the plan for the abduction of President Lincoln, and in which Surratt was, according to his own confession, a leading conspirator and an ally of the President's assassin It is understood that Surratt will journey Southward where he expects to be greeted with crowded houses and unlimited applause

The acting Commissioner of Patents has rendered an adverse decision in the case of the application of John B Read for an extension of his patent for projectiles He had worked diligently on his invention till 1861, when on the breaking out of the war, he joined the Confederate service, and under that government took out letters patent The projectiles were used largely by the Confederate armies He has refiled his letters patent, with an application for an extension, while on their face is the seal of the Confederate States at testing the facts above mentioned Negative replies to all applications, without being in the shape of an official decision, were given at various times, but now, Read inquires as to the truth of the report circulated around that he has been refused an extension on account of his service in the confederacy, the acting Commissioner replies, " That is just the reason exactly."

A late letter from Wilhelmshohe says that Louis Napoleon enjoys perfect health, and daily takes an airing on foot or horseback Recently, in speaking of the chances of his restoration he said "It would be quite well if it were publicly understood that I never intend to remount the throne on the strength of a military pronunciamento, by the aid of the soldiery just as little as by that of Prussia I am the sole sovereign who governs next by the grace of God, by the will of the people, and I shall never be unfaithful to the origin of either The whole people which has four times approved my election must recall me by its deliberate votes, else I shall never return to France The army possesses no more right to place me on the throne than had the lawyers and loafers to push me from it The French people, whose sovereign I am, has the sole decision "

An Olympia paper says About two weeks ago, in San Francisco, work was commenced on a new steamer for the Starr Brothers, to run on Puget Sound. She is to be completed on the 1st of April next, and will be, in all respects a first class steamer, staunch in structure and spacious and elegant in finish. Her dimensions are to be 170 feet keel, 30 feet beam, and 10 feet hold, in the clear. She is to have a low pressure beam engine of 400 horse power, and will be built with especial reference to the navigation of the Sound

POLITICAL NOTES

The motive of Senator McCreery, of Kentucky, for introducing the resolution to restore the Arlington estate to Mrs Gen. Lee, and remove the Union dead therefrom is explained It was simply the stroke of a demagogue A few months since Stevenson, Governor of Kentucky, was chosen to the Senate, McCreery lacking one vote Stevenson is under the shadow of the Fourteenth Amendment, and a new election may be necessary, and McCreery is laying in stock, especially as Stevenson beat him by circulating the report that he had sold out to the Republicans The Lee resolution is designed to prove that he is still sound It stands Stevenson to cut lower, if he can.

The "Young Eagle of the West" is not yet dead, but still soars aloft with undimmed eye. That is, according to an admiring Pittsburg journal, the present condition of the bird We quote The intimation that Mr. Pendleton has retired from the list of candidates for the Presidency and agreed to support Mr Hoffman who in return, is to give him a Cabinet position or the mission to England, is ridiculous and absurd Mr Pendleton would not be required to pledge himself to anybody to receive the tender of those positions from a Democratic President He is just as likely to have it in his power to tender favors to Mr Hoffman as the reverse

The Republican press of the country quite generally condemn the course of Senator Sumner on the San Domingo resolutions, especially his assault on the President, as causeless and undignified in the extreme To oppose the resolutions was his right, but it is held to be inexcusable to go out of his way to assail the President for zealously supporting a measure he believed was wise It is extensively believed that it is not so much the San Domingo question as other matters—notably the recall of Mr Motley—that has led to this exhibition of temper on the part of the Massachusetts Senator, the resolutions in question being only the occasion for its manifestation

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 18, 1871.

CITY.

SMALL POX AGAIN.—We had hoped that we had heard the last of small pox in this city; but it seems that matters have been managed just exactly right to keep the disease going. A daughter of Mr. John Bowman, living near the corner of Second and Harrison streets, now has it in one of its worst forms, and her physician has fears that she cannot recover. How she contracted the disease is not known, as she had not to her own or the knowledge of any of the family been exposed. The most probable theory is that she met some one who had been attending a small pox patient, and took it from such person's clothing. We learned yesterday that at least one person who was known to have been an attendant upon a small pox patient had been seen to go out upon the street without changing his clothing, and to enter business houses. This kind of thing is criminal carelessness, to use the mildest possible term. There is another feature about this small pox business about which we wish to say a few words. To-day we shall be denounced by a hundred or so of business men who put dollars and cents above every other consideration for giving publicity to this case, and thus, as they will say, doing great damage to the business of the city. We can stand that. We believe that the public have a right to know when and where there is danger, and while we have the means of doing it we will perform our duty to the entire community rather than bow to a pack of selfish and soulless creatures who put greed and gain above health and life. When danger is known it may be shunned; but if it is unseen the most careful may fall into it. The best and shortest way to get rid of the small pox is to remove every case, as the law provides, as far as practicable; and when removal would endanger the life of the patient let every precaution be taken to prevent contact and contagion. The house should be marked with a red flag, as the law provides, and physicians and nurses should be required to conform strictly to the most precautionary measures. We have had several cases in the city, and so far as we know not a flag has been put out. The only excuse we have heard for such neglect is that if flags were hung out there would be a panic and business would be injured! What an excuse for a [illegible] violation of law! Not long since a [illegible] was brought before the Police Judge and fined $50 for neglecting to report a case of small pox upon which he was attending. How much greater was his offense than that of the city authorities who, themselves, do not conform to the same law under which the physician was fined, after a case has been reported to them? In most of the cases we have heard of the patients were allowed to remain; that might have been necessary or wise, but to conceal a case from the public or to neglect the precautions provided by law, is not wise nor right, because persons might unknowingly expose themselves to contagion in the latter case, and afterward coming down with the disease without warning, might innocently expose others and thus spread the disease and keep it among us indefinitely. The case of Miss Bowman is in point. She contracted the disease without knowing of her exposure, and before her physician had concluded to call her sickness small pox a dozen or twenty people had called upon her and were thus put in danger of contagion. Where it will end now it is difficult to tell. This illustrates the "keep mum" policy of our police authorities. We are informed that Mr. Bowman's house is not marked with a flag. We are not an alarmist, nor do we wish to see a panic. There will be no panic nor [illegible] alarm if the people are fairly warned of the location of danger. It is unseen danger which most often breeds senseless alarm.

[illegible].—WONDERFUL PHENOMENON. An acquaintance relates the following account of a strange phenomenon witnessed by himself and several other persons on Sunday evening, at the residence of Mr. Rhoades, [illegible] miles east of [illegible]. Mr. Rhoades and family, his wife and two [illegible] and a Mr. [illegible], his wife and child, occupy the house and our informant with his sister, was spending the night there when the occurrence took place. The strange appearance was in the orchard adjoining which the house stands. It was at first like one of the India rubber [illegible] which we have often seen in our [illegible], with a brilliant light inside, by which the [illegible] illuminated, showing all the colors in [illegible]. This ball of light moved around, [illegible] in one direction and then [illegible] in another sometimes ascending higher than the tops of the surrounding fruit trees, and then coming to the ground again. Two or three times it changed its form [illegible] of being round and variegated in [illegible] suddenly took the shape of a fiery brilliant [illegible]. Two or three times it disappeared as [illegible] into the ground, reappearing again in a [illegible] exactly the same spot. While the entire party stood gazing at it Mr. Rhoades related to our informant, a former occurrence exactly [illegible] only a few months ago and stated that [illegible] then appeared, a huge panther or an animal [illegible] species, happened to be in the orchard [illegible] that when the ball of light came near [illegible] uttered the most unearthly screams and ran away. Mr. Rhoades had hardly finished the narration of these circumstances [illegible] the light began to approach the house. When it had come finally within a few feet, a [illegible] set up a terrific roar near the corner of the house and sprang away just in front of the [illegible] and disappeared. The entire party, though they had not before manifested anything more than curiosity, were of course greatly startled by [illegible] movement and rushed pell mell into the house, nearly carrying the door off its hinges, one [illegible] exclaiming "My God! it is as big as a [illegible]!" Just as it had done on the former occasion, the ball of light then made a circuit of the [illegible] and taking a straight line, ascending gradually, it disappeared in the distance. Our informant says that "neither of the persons who [illegible] superstitious, or a believer either [illegible] ghosts, spirits or apparitions, or any [illegible], but having seen it (some [illegible]) the second time they are naturally [illegible] and puzzled as to the explanation of the [illegible]. If we were to make a guess, we [illegible] say that some person or persons had played [illegible] trick with a Chinese lantern, string, etc., to frighten the inmates of the house. The witnesses, however, utterly refuse to believe in such [illegible] as possible, and we give the story for what it is worth, as there is some excitement in that [illegible] about the [illegible].

RAILROAD SUBSCRIPTIONS. Mr. Stitzel, of the Railroad Canvassing Committee, handed us the following list of subscriptions obtained yesterday:

L. Smith	$1,000	W. P. Bacon	$100
L. Newby	250	W. Jackson	100
I. Holbrook	200

The following is copy of a telegram from Washington:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16, 1871.

To Jacob Stitzel: The following amounts have been subscribed in aid of the West Side Railroad:

W. S. Ladd	$2,000	J. S. Smith	$500
B. Willis	500

H. W. CORBETT.

These subscriptions swell the total to about [illegible].

FROM THE PENITENTIARY.—Judge Page, who came down from Salem a day or two since, informs us that Charley Burch, who was sent up from this city, is lying seriously if not dangerously ill at the penitentiary. Mat Bledsoe met with serious, if not fatal injuries, last Saturday, by falling from a pile of lumber, from a height of nearly twenty feet. He lay insensible for some time, and it is thought he received internal injuries which may prove fatal.

BURGLARIES IN THE COUNTRY.—It would seem from the nature of the news from the surrounding country, that some of the rogues who have infested this city, have been taking a walk lately in the country. Last week we had news of two or three burglaries near Mt. Tabor, and now we learn that two or three houses have been entered into in the neighborhood of St. John. Farmers would do well to tie their dogs loose and keep a good lookout for their movable property.

PREMIUM LIST FOR 1871.—Mr. A. L. Stinson, Secretary for the State Agricultural Society, is preparing to issue, about the 1st of March next, five thousand copies of the premium list for 1871, for gratuitous distribution throughout the State and at the Fair Grounds during the next State Fair. The book will be printed on pages 4½ by 7½ inches, and every other page will be devoted to advertisements. "It will, therefore, be an excellent advertising medium."

HALL STREET M. E. CHURCH FESTIVAL.—The festival at the Hall street M. E. Church will take place this, (Wednesday) evening, instead of to-morrow evening as first announced. The festival is to be held for the purpose of raising a part of the purchase money for an organ for the church and Sunday school. Admittance only twenty-five cents.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

On Monday the Fannie Troup brought up forty-five passengers from Kalama.

Dredging in the Columbia for the body of G. W. Ford was continued till Monday night without success.

Messrs. William Morton, O. P. Mason, J. P. O. Lownsdale, E. D. Shattuck and Charles Holman are elected directors of the Willamette Hotel Company.

The Oregon & California Railroad Co. are removing all their live stock to pastures below the city.

The construction of the N. P. R. R. Co's wharf at Kalama will require 150,000 feet of piles and upwards of 1,000,000 feet of lumber.

The Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society will have a meeting at their hall this evening at half past seven.

The Oregon Horticultural Society will meet in the Good Templars' Hall, Carter's building, at 10 A. M. Thursday, the 19th inst.

AMUSEMENTS.

CONCERT.—The Vieuxtemps Brothers and the Taylor Family performed last evening to a small audience. They will not appear again till Friday night.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The very pretty little comedies of "Perfection" and "The Conjugal Lesson" were performed last evening by Mr. and Mrs Bates and Mr. Vinson, supported by the company. There is a fine dramatic and comedy bill up for Mr. Bates' benefit.

THE SKATING RINK is drawing a crowd day and night, and no wonder, for there is fun enough for the million. Last evening not only the floor was full, but there were long rows of spectators on both sides the hall until the place was closed. This forenoon the hall will be reserved for the ladies and their escorts, and this afternoon it will be open to the general public.

MR. BATES' BENEFIT.—This evening, Mr. Bates will receive a benefit tendered by the company, on which occasion the lively and brilliant comedy of "The Jealous Wife, or the firm of Simpson & Co.," will be produced, the beneficiary in the character of Charles Bromley, with an alias, and Mrs. Bates as Mrs. Simpson. Mr. James Cook will perform the Spanish Tranca act and other acts of jugglery; Miss Gemma Frankie will dance the Highland Fling; and the entertainment will conclude with the farce of "A Happy Pair." This bill will give the theater goers an excellent entertainment; and as this is the only time this season Mr. Bates has taken a benefit, he ought to have a full house.

PASSENGERS FOR CALIFORNIA.—The N. P. T. Co.'s steamship Oriflamme, Bolles, Commander, sailed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, for San Francisco, taking the following named passengers: E Turner, A Nicolay, H E Bright, E S Whitcomb, Miss Annie Sprague, L M Starr and wife, Miss Kate Powers, Miss J McNamara, J W Ladd, J F Adams, B H Loomis, H B Merrill, R M Wisdarow, H H Tuttle, W J Pettigrew, O H Rogers, F B Norman, R Murphy, J B Piette and wife, Anna Readle, Miss R Newman, Mrs W P Humphreys and daughter, L Newman, W L Holbrook, O S Loomis, J Kunm, W Jackson, Neal McNulty, P J Martin, H C Hale, Wm Beck and son, E O Webb, W B Shephard, A Dupeny, T E Dorning, O A Smith, A Alton, W F & Co.'s Messenger, and 16 in the steerage.

BUSINESS [illegible].—[illegible], Gillihan & Co. are preparing to remove their stock of goods to the corner of First and Morrison streets, where they are having an elegant sales-room fitted up. This will be the sole depot for the sale of the goods manufactured by the Pioneer Boot and Shoe Manufactory of this city.

CATTLE FOR EASTERN OREGON.—A large drove of cattle came into this city yesterday, from the west side counties, destined for a ranch east of the Cascade mountains. They will be shipped by the Cascade steamer this morning. The cattle are mostly yearlings, and rather thin, indicating that the winter has been severe on stock.

SNOW.—At 10 o'clock last evening the ground had become whitened with snow, and at 12 the prospect was excellent for a bountiful crop in the morning. In the language of the almanacs, "look out for sleighing about these days."

HORSES SHIPPED TO CALIFORNIA.—Several fine blooded horses were shipped yesterday, per Oriflamme, for California, among which were the horse "Vermont," and a "Pathfinder," colt; the latter shipped by Pat Smith.

GERMAN MEETING.—The German Patriotic Aid Society, of Portland, will hold a meeting this evening at the German school house on Third street, between Morrison and Yamhill; meeting at 8 o'clock.

TAXES AND COSTS.—After the 20th inst. delinquent tax-payers will be compelled to pay costs in addition to taxes. People who have not paid have, therefore, just exactly the famed "three days' grace."

TO PURCHASE MACHINERY.—Mr. A. Nicolai, who was a passenger by the Oriflamme yesterday, has gone below to purchase machinery for the sash and door factory of the Nicolai Brothers.

The New York Mail says: Many of our fashionable young ladies have adopted nicknames, which they use on their cards, preferring to be known by them, and to let their proper names be forgotten. It strikes a foreigner as rather strange to see cards bearing such names as "Gerty" this, "Toody" that, or "Pinky" so and so.

The editor of the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin is bothering his head over the following problem: If 4 dogs with 10 legs can catch 89 rabbits with 27 legs, in 14 minutes, how many legs must the same rabbits have to get away from 8 dogs, with 82 legs, in 17 minutes and a half—allowing 365 days in the year.

And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.

With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS
MILL FURNISHING GOODS, WOOD-WORKING
MACHINERY,
RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity—(so-called)—persist in claiming that they are "bogus," "California made," etc.

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE, and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer, who, after "looking 'round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc., delivered himself thusly: "Well, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be d—ned if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market, in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago,—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "inferior makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

Keep to the Right

Keep to the right as the law directs
For such is the rule of the road
Keep to the right whoever expects
Securely to carry life's load

Keep to the right with God and His truth
Nor wander though folly allure
Keep to the right from the day of thy youth
Nor turn from what's faithful and pure.

Keep to the right within and without,
With stranger and kindred and friend
Keep to the right and you need have no doubt
That all will be well in the end

Keep to the right in whatever you do
Nor claim but your own on the way
Keep to the right and hold on to the true
From the morn to the close of life's day

SALEM OREGON October 22, 1870

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson at 12 M February 15 1870 The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line 1870

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks and upon very favorable terms if they so desire by filing an abandonment of their claim to the U S Land Office blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers or agents fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to prove up his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearny street corner of Commercial San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitution, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head, ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots [illegible] about the loins weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs, consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon [illegible] symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicine promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co. a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union

All communications strictly confidential
